Many people are not aware that it is the wrapper of the tobacco which gives the color to the plug, and are therefore often deceived by a handsome outside appearance. The wrapper is a single film of leaf wrapped around the plug and is never good smoking tobacco. It is costly only because of its fine color. In the "Myrtle Navy" brand the chief attention is paid to the "filler," that is the inside of the plug. It is this which determines the smoking quality of any tobacco. A tobacco can be made to look as well as the "Myrtle Navy" without much trouble or expense, but it may at the same time be a very inferior article.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

MEACHAM'S MISTAKES.

To the Editor of the Express.

Dear Sir,—The local member for Lennox is becoming notorious as the most pliable member of the house. It seems to be one of his favorite pastimes to lash himself into a fury in opposition to some measure and then when the division bell rings, pick up his hat and leave the house, or on other occasions the "gallery" has oftentimes been amused to hear him plead for a bill with all the power and force of his nature, and then vote against the measure he so earnestly sought the house to adopt. The Doctor spent the greater part of his time last campaign in explaining his "reasons" for shunning the vote on Meredith's License resolution. On that occasion he committed the awful crime—from a party standpoint—of speaking in opposition to a resolution introduced by his leader, and embracing the principal plank in which his party subsequently appealed to the people. But just as Lennox liberalism was congratulating itself on a new acquisition to the ranks of reform, all their bright hopes were blasted by the cracking of the "party whip," and in the division that followed the debate on the representative, according to the Chief, was out "cutting timber." This action would hold the spectacle of our "back bent" member supporting a bill to amend the anatomy act, with the object of providing a decent burial for the poor wretches who die in the Houses of Industry and to prevent their bodies from being "elected" by the medical students, and after making a speech that bristled with his effusive regard for humanity, he again demonstrated his acquired reputation for legislative fickleness by assisting the house in its rejection of the bill. How long shall Lennox be misrepresented?

TEMPERANCE IN RELIGION.

To the Editor of the Express.

Sir,—From a physiological as well as moral standpoint it is well to be temperate in all things. The drunkard is not the only man who is intemperate. We may be intemperate in the exercise of any faculty of the mind or organ of the body. Even the religionist may be intemperate. Such a thing as religious intoxication is quite possible. We have had ample practical proof of this in this county during the past two or three months. We have had religious excesses in our midst which, from a moral and social point of view are not only unseemly to say the least, but a direct violation of the laws of physiology and the conditions of health. Admitting, for the sake of the argument, that religion is a good thing, it is just possible to get too much of a good thing. It is a law of nature that "intensive life cannot be extensive" and that excess is followed by reaction. And be it remembered that the quality or character of the excess will not save the subject from the penalty. Nor will the motive, no matter how good or praiseworthy it may be, save him. The laws of nature are inexorable.

But, this being a free country where every man has rights legal and natural, even the right to make a fool of himself—he may say in reply, "this religious business is my business, not yours." But it is my business. It is the business of every rational citizen in the community. It is the business of every man who knows better to advise and enlighten if possible, and there his duty in the premises ends.

A young man who had been living at my house attended the meetings every night and sometimes by day as well for two months or more, returning at midnight or after, and during that time he lost materially in flesh, health and strength. In his nervous excitement and religious frenzy he would shout himself so hoarse that sometimes he could scarcely speak above a whisper on rising in the morning after a restless sleep in which he would repeat the absurd and exciting performances of a few hours before, disturbing those about him. The slight improvement in conduct is by no means sufficient compensation for the mental and physical destructive workings of the N. E. many of us as citizens have been compelled to emigrate to the United States, not Grits only, but Tories as well. By the thousands they go to seek a foreign home, to live as exiles there. Such is the true condition of things that have existed under Tory rule. The Tories caused the rebellion of 1885 in Manitoba, which caused the sacrifice of the lives of two hundred precious souls of Canadian volunteers, and an expense of $8,000,000 to the country, and also by their slanders provoked the Americans to wrath and they put on the McKinley tariff, and now they find themselves unable to negotiate a treaty with our neighbors at Washington. Now, Mr. Editor, let me say a word in conclusion, thanking you for the space in your much valued paper, I remain, respectfully yours, in the advocacy of free trade and good honest liberal government, which I hope will come to power at Ottawa at the next general election.

JOHN W. BOOTHIE.
Newcomb Mills, Ont., April 21st, 1892.

PATRONS OF INDUSTRY.

As might have been foreseen, when burdens previous to be born was placed upon the necks of the great consuming portion of our population, unless in the meantime the bold spirits had been driven into foreign lands and all national ambition fagged out of the weak and feeble resident, the time has come when the agriculturists, who compose seven tenths of the whole, are seeking to be relieved from the galling load that for the benefit of others has been placed upon them, and by agitation and organization, so to unite their forces that they may be able in the near future to swing back the pendulum that has been held so long at one side of the national clock case that the hands on the dial plate have become fixed at the dark and dismal hour of midnight, giving no hope to the weary watchers of the coming of a bright and glorious morning. In their aid in this great work the Patrons of Industry call every patriot. Will the call be in vain, or is their enough liberty loving Canadians left to win back the rights and privileges vouchsafed to them by the Divine law although stolen from them by hell inspired human laws. Never was truer words spoken than those uttered by Mr. Laurier: "If Canada is saved she must be saved by her own people."

Yours respectfully, CANADIAN.

NEWS FROM THE COUNTRY

Link's Mills.

Farmers are very busy seeding at present. Some have planted potatoes already.

Sugar season was rather poor so that we need not look for a large harvest.

Our miller is getting better.

The whistle on Gallagher's new Farmers Friend cheese factory called out "I am ready for your milk," on Monday morning, the result was four large cheeses. Farmers should help the man who has shown so much enterprise and courage and by so doing they will help themselves.

Croydon.

Mr. Robert Teskey has returned from Watertown. He and several others left here about the first of April intending to stay until next fall but Bob reappeared about four days after he left.

Our teacher, C. W. Scouten spent the Easter holidays at home in Napanee Mills.

The Croydon cheese factory started on Monday the 18th inst. under the able management of Mr. Cook. He took in about 21 cwt. of milk and made two cheeses the first day.

The river is quite low for this time of the year and the fish are not very plentiful yet.

Most of our farmers have quite a lot of sowing done already, although the ground is so cold that grain will not start to grow.

Adolphustown.

The boats are all running.

A painful accident occurred on Saturday. As Tommy Smith was bringing a seeder from the field with a team of young colts, the neckyoke broke, causing the tongue to fall. The colts ran away smashing the seeder almost to uselessness and giving Tom some severe bruises. Under the treatment of Dr. Young and kind friends he may be around soon.

Mrs. Lyons, of Kingston, is the guest of Mrs. J. A. Chalmers.

Mr. J. F. Chalmers has charge of the Post Office this week.

Mrs. W. S. Duffet has been in Belleville the past few days.

Miss Jennie Arthur is visiting her brother at Kingston.

Mr. W. Carscallen has been very poorly the past few days.

Morven.

Mr. A. J. Robinson does not improve in health as his many friends would like to see him.

We were very pleased to see Mrs. S. W. Perry able to be out for a drive on Wednesday after four months' illness.

Mrs. E. Smith is under the Dr.'s care at her sister's Mrs. J. Gordanier.

One of the most complete social gatherings of the season met at the parsonage on Thursday evening in the way of a surprise under the able management of the Ladies' Aid Society. The high esteem in which our minister is held was easily seen by the number who gathered there—between eighty and ninety—with well filled baskets and spent a very pleasant evening, interspersed with plenty of music and readings, after which a purse of $17.75 was presented to Mrs. Mallett by the friends present.

Deseronto.

Harry Fowkes has sold his house on east Thomas street to John Smith, of the B. & Q. R'y. John Berry has sold his residence on west Dundas street to Frank Lake and has purchased a lot on Thomas street from his brother, R. J. Berry, where he will build at once.

Mrs. Seymour Norton has purchased the house and lot on Centre street belonging to Robert Norris, and Wm. Britton has purchased the adjoining lot from R. H. Baker and will replace the present house with another residence.

T. Coughlin has purchased a lot on Green street from George Clement and is preparing to build thereon.

Mrs. Morden, Centre street, made a trip

Centreville.

The maple sugar making season is coming near its close and everybody now is—Oh my so sweet.

The farmers in this section have begun sowing.

A sabbath school is being re-organized, the first meeting was held on Sunday last. An elder and much esteemed citizen, Mr. Wm. Whelan, has been quite ill for a length of time, having been taken by an attack of grippe. He is under the attendance of Dr. Beeman.

Mr. P. Vandewater is preparing to move into his other house which lies adjacent to the residence now occupied.

Miss Mary Keller came home on Monday last after having remained among friends in Morven for several weeks.

Mrs. McKenly and daughter, of Bath, are visiting at her father's, Mr. Whelan's.

The cheese-factory opened on 11th, inst. but up to the present time cheese have been made only four times a week.

Northbrook.

Spring is here again robed in nature's glowing beauty and as the wind was in a Southern direction on Easter Sunday there is, according to old weather prophets, going to be warm weather.

Easter Holidays have passed with the usual quietness.

Hen thieves made a raid on M. Casard's hen roost last week and carried away three of his hens. I suppose, object Easter Sunday. Notwithstanding the good roads, Rev. Mr. Huggins had a very small congregation on Sunday last.

Miss Sarah Williams has returned home and is seriously ill.

Messrs. James and Henry Abbott are visiting friends and relatives, here but intend returning to Pennsylvania after a two weeks' vacation.

Mrs. Annings presented her husband with a fine boy on Monday last.

Mr. L. Clark and daughter Annie gave Northbrook and Glastonbury a flying visit on Thursday last.

Miss Wheeler has returned to her home at Tweed, after visiting friends here for three weeks. "Tis I, who miss you Media."

Miss Matilda Presley has returned to Ottawa to resume her position as tailoress.

Master W. Abbott visited Northbrook on Sunday last, Willie always wears a smiling face.

Bobad Will must have been hunting small game or they would not have been ashamed and went across the corner the other night. Those who are in search of pure air, the freedom and pleasures of country life, could not please themselves better than by taking up their abode at Northbrook and its community. I am sure those who pass by only ignore and neglect their personal comforts. I among many others that are accustomed to good thoroughfares and other conveniences can say that "Northbrook is the place for me."

Glastonbury can boast of some good looking girls but whether it be that they are strong minded and prefer a life of single blessedness to matrimony or because the boys are backward in coming forward, the fact remains that many have reached an advanced age without marrying.

P. S. Leap year girls."

Monthly Prizes for Boys and Girls

The "Sunlight" Soap Co., Toronto, offer the following prizes every month till further notice to boys and girls under 16, residing in the Province of Ontario, who send the greatest number of "Sunlight" wrappers: 1st, $10; 2nd, $5; 3rd, $3; 4th, $1; 5th to 11th, a Handy Home Book; and a pretty picture to those who send not less than 12 wrappers. Send wrappers to "Sunlight" Soap Office, 43 Scott St., Toronto, not later than 15th of each month, and marked "Competition." Also give full name, address, age, and number of wrappers. Winner's names will be published in The Toronto Mail on first Saturday in each month.

A FABLE.

The Woman and the Rat Which Played Upon Her Weakness.

A Housewife whose cellar was infested by Rats baited a trap and finally managed to catch one, whose size and condition proved compensation for the mental and physical loss. Other votaries within knowledge are in a similar condition and quite incapacitated for work and the real duties of life.

It has been a matter of surprise that some of our M. D.'s have not ere this protested in the name of the science they represent against this species of intemperance which is an abuse against mind and body. They understand this matter and know what's what, and it is time they spoke. Do they fear Mrs Grundy? For myself, having neither fear nor respect for this tyrannical old lady, I beg to enter my protest. Moreover this business carried on much further would yield the doctors a much harvest and the old man with the scythe would, I fear, follow closely after them.

I freely admit that good is done in one way by temperate religious revivalism conducted decently and in order, but it is an open question whether vastly more harm than good does not follow the hypnotic operations of those itinerant professional revival mesmerists who go about from place to place leaving mental and physical debility and even insanity in their wake. Still it seems to be an unfortunate fact that there are large numbers of people who have not the mental steadiness or moral balance to go straight in life without having the "hangman's whip" flourished over their heads occasionally, and what Burns calls "the fear of Hell" thrust upon them to keep them in order. This being the case the moral reformer would scarcely suppress these whips altogether if he could, but would endeavor to regulate them and keep them within bounds and to educate humanity to the point where they will not be needed.

Of course a great many excellent people believe that the prostrations, the frenzy, and other striking phenomena which attend religious revivalism are wholly supernatural in essence and origin, but the scientist and the medical man who is up with his science knows that these cerebral phenomena and many others much more remarkable are purely physiological and hence the danger to mind and body psychic action or nervous excitement carried to such excess.

Yours etc., ALLEN PRINGLE.

ORGANISKE.
To the Editor of the Express.

Dear Sir,—As a Canadian and staunch supporter of the great Liberal party of Canada, and in view of another general election for the House of Commons in the course of three years time, I think it behoves the Liberals to be up and doing in the way of organising young men's Liberal clubs, in all townships as well as in towns and cities, throughout the whole Dominion of Canada. By that means we would be stronger to fight the coming battle with the enemy. The people of this country have a great many grievances under the N. P. which have for the past fourteen years made them poorer now than they were under the Mackenzie administration with a low tariff of 17c for revenue purposes only. But ever since the time Mackenzie was defeated and the Tories came into power at Ottawa under the N. P. what have been the results of the way they have governed the people? Well sir, the country is badly in debt, and we as Canadians are taxed to the uttermost farthing to keep up such men as Sir John Thompson, Foster and others of the family compact at Ottawa who set in office, voting increased salaries to themselves and plundering the public till in paying through monopoly hundreds upon thousands of the hard earned dollars of the people of this country, and using all corrupt means possible to bribe the electors in various ways, such as promising them a railroad or a government bridge or lighthouse and many other things which they promised, only to get their votes. The high tariff, I claim, has been and is still a great national curse in levying such unjust laws of burdensome taxation upon us Canadians for the enrichment of a few such gentlemen as form the Tory Cabinet at Ottawa. And it indeed astonishes me to see such professors of loyalty come forward at election times with such words of falsehood upon their tongues and declare that this country under their administration is rightly managed for the welfare of her inhabitants, and that they are prosperous and happy. Surely the people know better; for haven't we had an experience of the protective policy ever since 1878; and I say, fearless of contradiction, that it has proved itself a curse instead of a blessing. You can see the noble acts that they have done in the interest of retaining themselves in power at Ottawa—legislating away the rights and privileges of the people in depriving thousands of our young men of their franchise as free citizens of a free country. And under such hard times of the so called pro-

OLD HARVARD UNIVERSITY.

OPENED IN THE YEAR 1638.

Harvard University is the oldest institution of learning on this continent. It was opened in 1638, and in 1650 its charter was granted. The Medical School was established in 1782 and has given to the people of the United States during the past 110 years a class of physicians that any land might be proud of.

It will interest Canadians to know, that one of our most valuable and noted cough remedies emanated from this grand old university. It was the result of long study and deep thought. It was given to the world with a confidence that warranted the best results; and for years it has been the favorite and popular remedy with the best class of Americans.

Harvard Bronchial Syrup since its introduction in Canada has taken the place of nearly all the old and antiquated preparations. Its work is instantaneous, marvellous and unailing, and has cured thousands of serious and obstinate cases that had resisted the efforts of other remedies.

Doctors and druggists highly recommend its use for Sore Throat, Hacking Cough, Croup, Tickling Sensations in the Bronchial Tubes and Enlargement of the Tonsils. It instantly allays inflammation, and quickly heals any soreness in the diseased organs of the throat. It is absolutely safe for any age or condition of life, and never produces stomach sickness or constipation, as many of the remedies of the present day do. We urge upon every reader who has a cough of cold, the necessity of procuring a bottle at once.

—Mr. Morgan and Fairry, of Picton will make a tour of Quebec, during May and June, with Mr. Smith of the Emerald Duett.

Mrs. Morden, Centre street, made a trip to Picton one day last week.

Mr. Jas. Richardson has returned from a trip to Toronto.

Mrs. J. T. Greatrix is visiting friends in Shannonville etc.

Miss Northcott, Belleville has been the guest of Miss Davis during the past week.

Mr. & Mrs. H. B. Rathbun are spending a week or two with friends in New York.

Miss Hattie Hudson spent the Easter vacation at her home in Roslin.

Mr. & Mrs. Robert Massie are in Kingston visiting their parents and friends.

Mr. Butler, law student with Cluthe & Williams, Belleville spent Sunday last in town.

Mr. Booth was in Belleville last Saturday.

Sandhurst.

Mr. Editor, seeing nothing in your valuable paper from Sandhurst I thought I would take up my pen and let you know what is going on in and around the village.

The ice has all gone and the boats are commencing to make their appearance which the old folks say are a sign of spring.

Mr. Will Youngs is paying a flying visit to Sandhurst.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Hill spent Sunday in Hamburg.

Rumor says a wedding soon. Come girls hurry up with those new dresses.

The boys and girls feel bad and look sad since they got their pictures taken or expected to get them taken on Friday last I wonder if ever they got left so nice before.

We notice the fox colt took its regular trip down the front. Best wishes Will.

Mr. George Doyle returned from Kingston to Sandhurst on his way to the Fifth-Town but on account of the heavy sea had to remain a couple of days with friends.

Professor R. Kennedy of Bath is spending a few days at the residence of Mr. Wm. Hill.

We notice Felix is getting the cage ready. Be on the lookout girls.

Mrs. Charles Redden presented her husband with a bouncing baby girl.

Mr. Editor I suppose the people will wonder and wonder who wrote this but you can tell them it was Little Jack.

Odessa.

Robt. West, Toronto, is in town spending Easter vacation.

The various pupils attending the school at Napanee and Belleville are home for Easter.

The social at Dr. Meacham's on Monday night was a great success. There was a good attendance and a pleasant time was spent.

Adjutant Philpot and Ensign Dawson of the S. A. were here on Tuesday night. They baptised the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Anson Rose.

A photographer from the city has announced his intention of being here to photograph the school building on Friday morning.

The Rev. W. Limbert preached a temperance sermon on Sunday evening and took strong grounds in opposition to the liquor traffic characterizing it as a diabolical pest. It was interesting to listen to scathing denunciation of christians who sign applications for licenses and in other ways countenance this evil, for the purpose of securing the patronage of the liquor dealers. The Rev. gentleman delivered his address in a forcible and eloquent manner, and was heard with intense interest by the congregation.

The residence of James Johnston came very near being under the control of the fireking on Sunday. The roof caught fire from a chimney but fortunately was noticed in time to be easily extinguished by a few pails of water.

The death of Miss Emily M. Scouten removes from this township one of its most estimable ladies. She was suffering from la grippe and pneumonia, and expired last Friday. She resided with her brother, Allen Scouten, of Violet, and was widely connected in this district. Her life is said to have been as near perfection as it is possible for a human being to attain. She spent her life doing good. The funeral on Sunday was largely attended. The body was conveyed to the Violet church where the funeral services were conducted by the Rev. S. Cruikshanks. The deceased was 61 years of age.

catch one, whose size and condition proved how often he had eaten her cake and cheese. Greatly rejoiced over the capture she was about to place the trap in a tub of water and drown him, when the Rat calmly inquired: "Your name is Jones, isn't it?"

"Yes—Jones."

"Wife of Sam Jones, who hasn't sweat his collar for the last fifteen years?"

"Yes."

"And over there on the grocery steps are Pete Clay, Jim Watson, Sils White, and a dozen other chaps equally as lazy as Jones?"

"Yes; the usual crowd has got together over there to chew tobacco and talk horse," replied Mrs. Jones.

"Well, now," continued the Rat, "turn me loose into that lumber pile, and if you don't get more fun out of the antics of that crowd than would load a hayrack I'll agree to return and be drowned."

After due reflection Mrs. Jones decided to try the experiment. As the Rat ran for shelter he was observed by all, and a minute later, headed by Jones, the crowd was digging for the Rodent. For two long hours, under a broiling summer sun, fourteen men tossed that lumber around in hopes to come upon the Rat, and when the search was finally abandoned Jones had got up steam enough to bring out three boils which had lain dormant in his system for the last ten years, while at least half of the others had to go home and wash their necks and get into clean shirts.

MORAL.—"You see," said the rat to Mrs. Jones as he met her down-cellar next day, "dead opportunities are simply a source of regret, while live issues, if properly grasped, lead up to success."

THE THREE FAVORITE BLACKS.

Three names there are of great renown, Well known in each Canadian town; They have acquired a wondrous fame—Are friends of every country dame: These characters throughout our land Have made a most determined stand, And, in a bold and honest way Have come to every home to stay. Kind fate to ladies did ordain, That they should kindly entertain These three black characters of note, And to them special care devote: All this was done, because fair eyes Discovered they were Diamond Dyes— Three members of a noble clan Who've blessings brought to home of man. The first of fame, is Black for Wool, Giving a Jet or Blue so full— A one-dip dye of wondrous pow'r, And fast even with a strong soap scour. The second, for your Silk or Feather, Gives such a Black, that use or weather Can never in the least reduce The brilliant shades they can produce. And last, not least, the Cotton Black "To faded goods at once brings back A look of freshness, grandeur, style, That makes the housewife sweetly smile. Each member of this trio grand His special work has well in hand; Their reputation never dies, For they're allied to Diamond Dyes.

What a Chance!

A clever teacher who has the power of calling out originality in her pupils says that she should certainly have no time for the use of text-books if she attempted to answer all the startling questions asked her in the class. One day the attraction of gravitation was under discussion, and Charley Beale volunteered the opinion that he "didn't see any need of it, anyway."

"It seems to me," said Charley, "there's no particular use in having the earth attract things. Now, when the apple fell and made Newton think out the reason—why, that apple might just as well have stayed where it was till somebody gathered it."

"You play well, don't you?" asked the teacher.

"Yes'm."

"Suppose you hit the ball very high. What happens?"

"It falls."

"But if there were no attraction toward the earth it wouldn't fall. Don't you think that might prove inconvenient?"

Charley did not answer immediately. His eyes were bright with the light of a new idea.

"My!" he broke forth involuntarily. "What a chance for a home run."

NAPANEE, FRIDAY, APRIL 22, 1892.

Prince Edward Island has taken steps to reform its provincial legislature, and reduce the cost of local government. At present the legislature of the province consists of a legislative council of thirteen members, elected by persons owning real estate to the value of $320 or over; and an assembly of thirty members elected under manhood suffrage. The local government has introduced a measure to abolish both chambers and to establish in their stead a single legislative body to be composed of fifteen members elected by the present legislative council electors and fifteen elected by manhood suffrage voters. The present assembly electoral divisions are to be continued and each assembly district is to elect one of each class of representatives. In this way the principle of protection to property owners is to be continued, while at the same time the cost of legislation will be greatly reduced.

PASSED PEACEFULLY AWAY.

Hon. Alex. Mackenzie, one of the ablest and the most upright of the many men who have held sway in Canada, died at 12-40 on Sunday morning.

A self-made man, an able honest statesman—an unwavering adherent to what he believed to be right—Hon. Alex. Mackenzie earned for himself the respect of all honest men, not only in Canada but wherever Canada and Canadian affairs have been discussed and understood. He rose from the humble but honest calling of a stonemason to be the First Minister of this great Dominion, and he had the proud satisfaction of knowing that even his most bitter opponents had to confess before he died that he was an honest administrator, and that the slanders—many and bitter—retailed against him by unscrupulous opponents were without foundation in fact.

Hon. Alexander Mackenzie, as we learn from a well-informed biographer, was born in Logierait, near Dunkeld, Perthshire, Scotland, on 28th January, 1822. His father was an architect and contractor, and his son, Alexander, was designed for the same calling, beginning, as is the custom in Scotland, with a practical grounding in masonry. The lad was taught the rudiments at his birthplace, acquiring all the essential branches of an English education, but he did not rest content with what he had learned in the schools, and continued the pursuit of knowledge at the old cathedral city of Dunkeld, and at Perth. His father died in 1836 leaving behind him seven sons all of whom afterwards settled in Canada, Alexander being the third of the number. One other member of the family developed great promise, Hope F. Mackenzie, but he was not spared long to the career which he had begun so brilliantly. In 1861, however he routed Mr. William McDougall in North Oxford, and continued to hold the seat until his untimely death. In 1845 Alexander emigrated to Canada, settling in Kingston, Ont. Whilst at work on the fortifications of the Limestone City Mr. Mackenzie made the acquaintance of Sir John A. Macdonald Sir Alexander Campbell and the Hon. O. Mowat. After a time Mr. Mackenzie set up business for himself as a builder and contractor at what was known as Port Sarnia. Here, while the storm of party passion was at its height, the future Premier of the Dominion calmly conducted his private business, though it is said that he was all the while gravely and with the most painstaking care studying political questions. He had been a Whig in Scotland, and he brought his Liberalism with him across the sea. It is not to be wondered at that

AN EASTER SERMON

By the Rev. C. O. Johnston.

St. Chap. Matthew, verse vi.—"He is not here for he is risen as he said. Come see the place where the Lord lay."

Reported by Fred. Paul.

A woman's heart will hold hope, and breathe faith, longer than that of a man. Her life is such that she does not learn to put confidence in material things, things commercial, things monarchic, as do men. She does not buy and sell as do men, she does not draw notes, and lift mortgages, and place loans as do men, she does not come to put her trust in the things that men are dealing with as do men. Her confidence is rather in the future. It is as natural for a woman to live for the future, as it is for a man to live for the present. An ordinary man starting out for business tomorrow morning will start out to see how much he can do in the day; what to-day's sales will be; what to-day's undertakings will procure him. When he wants to know about what he has, and what his financial standing is, the ordinary man will count very little upon the prospects of to-morrow; he will balance up his books, and take stock, and count his cash, and find out just what his standing is to-day. But woman lives for the future. Her future is wrapped up in her little child, her boy is her future. Her great element of life is motherhood, whether she is ever a mother or not, and motherhood is always looking to the future. It is not what the little child is now, it is what the child will be, and that element becomes strikingly characteristic of woman, so that a woman will hold to hope longer than a man; and so while two of the men have started back to their old occupations, and were on their way to Emmaus, two of the women have gone to the sepulchre, to the place where the body of Jesus was laid. Two men have risen in the morning and are starting on their journey. "It is all over with us now," they say, "we may as well return to our fishing and to our former occupations" and so with downcast hearts, and lowered heads, they start to Emmaus; but two women, with hope clinging to the future, go to the sepulchre. Thank God for that even ending hope, that is in the woman's heart, for the faith that lifts life upward and looks onward and says "there must be something better in time to come." For while the father when he finds that his prodigal son has spent all his money and has drawn on his credit in the bank, has never gone to the extent of forgery, while the father will cover it up for the sake of not having his name disgraced, yet there will come into his eyes a hardness, and he will slam the door on his boy, but the mother will cling to him, for she says "We have loved him, so, and have prayed so much for him, surely there is something better ahead," and she will cling to him, with a mother's hope for the future, while her heart still holds fast to hope.

So these women who went to the sepulchre, if for nothing more, to see the place where the body of Jesus was, perhaps thinking there might be something, perhaps remembering what Christ had said, about rising the third day; I cannot tell what was in their hearts, but the fact was, they went to the sepulchre.

The angel sat upon the stone that he had rolled away from the sepulchre, and he said in the beautiful language that has been read in your hearing, "Fear not ye, for I know that ye seek Jesus who was crucified. He is not here, He is risen. Come, see the place where the Lord lay." Come see the evidence he is risen. Are we not in the position of these women? How often you have wanted to see Christ! How often you have wanted the presence of Christ! How often you have prayed for the actual presence of Christ! There comes to you and to me the declaration of this angel unto the woman who visited the sepulchre—He is not here for he has risen.

And when we have gone into the storm of life, as the disciples went into the storm on the sea of Galilee, and the winds and the waves have risen, and the ship trembled we have been fearful and have wanted to step down into the hold of the vessel and lay our hand upon the actual person of Christ, and say, "Master, carest thou not that we perish?" and have him come up in actual form, and step on the deck of the vessel, and stand on the bow and say, "Peace, be still."

But He was not there, we could not put our hand upon him in the midst of the storm, while the ship is tossed to and fro, but we have prayed, and our hearts have been taken on courage, and we have held fast, and we have trusted till by and by the ship has reached the harbor. Or perhaps there has been wreckage in some way and we have realized that Christ was not there and we said "If he had been here, we would around you at the grave beside you else had put an arm around you before. When that friend spoke so gently to you somebody else had spoken gently to you before that friend spoke at all. Oh, yes, Christ was there in spirit, and it was better that he was not there in person, for if He had raised the dead one to life he would have had to go through the pain of dying again. Is it not enough to die once?

He is not here, He is risen. It is better so, it is better so.

As he said "Let not your heart be troubled I go to prepare a place for you," that is what He said. Ye believe in Me. In my Father's house are many mansions; if it were not so I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you, and if I go and prepare a place for you I will come again and receive you unto myself that where I am ye may be also." And He has gone to prepare a place for us, and Oh! if Christ is to be on one side of the river or the other, if Christ is to be here to start me over or to be on the other side to meet me when I arrive, I had rather have him over there. I had rather Christ should be on the other side waiting my coming. For it is appointed unto man once to die and after that judgment. I want Christ to be over there.

I want his word, His spirit, His salvation here; but I want the real self of Christ over there. When my feet have gone down till the water has come up to my ankles and then up to my knees and then up to my girdle and then up to my shoulders and to my chin and then has gone over my head, and when I come up on the other side, I want that wounded hand reached down to lift me up above the waves as it was reached down to lift up Peter above the waves of Galilee. I want to come up to the shore, up among the angels and arch-angels; I want to go into that great company by the side of Jesus.

I shall not be afraid to go near the throne of God with Jesus. I shall not be afraid to be judged by the great Judge if I am with Jesus. I shall not be afraid to go up into the new land and look upon those magnificent creatures, those unassuming beings; I shall not be afraid to walk the streets of the great and beautiful city, amid the towers and the temples, amidst all the grandeur of heaven; I shall not be afraid though my spirit may be little in comparison to others, though I may have but little of value by the side of those great and mighty princes of God: Yes I had rather he would be over there, for I might die to-night, I don't know. Some of you may touch that other shore before another Easter has come, I don't know. I am glad that Christ died; that Christ rose again; that Christ went up on high to prepare a place and he will lead me to it. He will take me to the place he has prepared for me, and it will be all mine. Who would have prepared a place for me if Christ had stayed here? How should I have had an introduction into that world beyond if Christ had stayed here? Who would have represented me if Christ had not gone? But there is one standing among the mighty princes and kings of eternity, those spirits that have come down from thousands and possibly hundreds of thousands of ages in the past, those mysterious ones of God, in counsel with God; there stands in his presence One with wounded hands and wounded feet and wounded side, who represents me. He is my ambassador. He represents me. And there is allotted unto him a place in Glory for his people, for his bride. Thank God Christ is not here, He is risen. Thank God Christ is risen. Come see the place where the Lord lay. My heart is full of tenderness full of thanksgiving to-day. I have said a few things to you on this subject, which is so large that if I were to talk for hours I could not tell all that is in my heart. He is not here He is risen. Thank God he is risen.

He has gone to prepare a place for us. Thank God those of you who shall touch the other shore before another Easter comes, will find that Jesus has gone through the grave before you, that He has gone through the river before you, and that he has gone to that other shore, making it easier for you to come. He is over there to prepare a place for you in the Kingdom of our God.

He is risen, He is not here.

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering, and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so send at once and get a bottle of Winslow's SOOTHING SYRUP. For children teething its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhoea, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures Wind Colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP for children teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the Liberalism with which we cross the sea. It is not to be wondered at that the autocratic and reactionary doings of Lord Metcalfe met with his heartiest disapproval.

In 1852 appeared the Lambton Shield with Mr. Mackenzie as its editor; and for two years, with singular clearness, force and directness, he contended through the columns of that paper for that expansion of popular liberty, which, not a little through his exertions in practical political life was afterwards achieved. He was first elected to Parliament in 1861 for Lambton and he had no sooner taken his place in the House than he attracted attention. His style of parliamentary debate was unusual. It was thorough, and became at once very acceptable. There was no bluster, no unsupported assertion, no freaks of blind passion; but every conclusion was reasoned from plainly established grounds, in the most lucid fair and incisive language. Perhaps there was no other member in the House then—and certainly not since—whose utterances revealed so much patient and accurate research; and the quality and "capacity for taking trouble," as Thomas Carlyle phrased it, was characteristic of his whole subsequent career.

He moulded much useful legislation including in the list the enactment of a stringent election law, with the trial of election petitions by judges, and vote by ballot, and the abolition of the real estate qualifications of members; the better administration of penitentiaries; the enactment of a marine telegraph law which virtually abolished the monopoly of the cable company; the establishment of a Dominion military college and the improvement of the militia system; the enlargement of the canals and the permanent organization of civil service; the establishment of Supreme court for the Dominion; the reduction of postage to and from the United States; the free delivery of postal matter in cities and towns; the opening of direct mail communication with the West Indies; The construction of a transcontinental telegraph line; the better administration of Government railways; improved copyright law; the adoption of a final route for the C. P. R., from Lake Superior to the Red River and from Kamloops to Port Moody; the opening of negotiations, conducted on our behalf by our own delegate in person, between Canada and the United States for the establishment of an equitable reciprocity treaty between the two countries; a new insolvent law; the establishment of Territorial Government for the great Northwest and the Temperance (Scott) Act. In addition, two very important questions which for some time agitated the public mind and threatened the gravest complications—the Manitoba amnesty and the New Brunswick school question—were satisfactorily adjusted during his administration.

Mr. Mackenzie's health has been failing for several years, but hopes were entertained that absence from strain and overwork might restore him to a vigorous old age. He was twice married. His first wife was Helen, daughter of Wm. McNeil, Irvine, Scotland, who died on Jan 2, 1852, leaving a daughter who is now the wife of Rev. Dr. Thompson, Presbyterian minister at Sarnia Ont. On June 17, 1853, he again married the estimable lady who for many years proved to be his guardian angel—a womanly woman, respected as few ever are—Jane Sym, eldest daughter of the late Robert Sym, of Perthshire, Scotland. Mr. Mackenzie was twice offered the honor of knighthood by the Queen, whom he served so faithfully, but on both occasions, with the Honorables George Brown, Edward Blake and Oliver Mowat the honor was respectfully declined.

—Last Friday afternoon a man named H. Wells, stopping at the Grimsan hotel, Kingston, attempted to commit suicide. He went into the pantry with the intention of shaving himself. Shortly afterwards a servant girl tried the pantry door, found it locked and asked for the key. Suspicion was at once aroused and the door was broken in. Wells stood, tearing apart, with both hands, a long wound in his throat. A doctor was at once summoned and he was removed to the hospital and is doing as well as can be expected.

From the Jaws of Death.
Some surprising effects have been recorded from the use of Miller's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil in the most desperate cases of consumption. When all other remedies have failed Miller's Emulsion nearly always succeeds. It is the best kind of a flesh and blood maker, and has been used with marked success by the physicians in the Insane Asylum, Penitentiary, Hotel Dieu, and General Hospital in Kingston, Ont. In big bottles, 50c. and $1. At Napanee drug stores.

we have read that Christ was not there and we said "If he had been here, we should have been free from this storm." And we must bear it as best we can for He is risen, He is not with us as He was with the disciples, for He is risen. His spirit comes to us, and we have courage, and we have faith, and we have strength. And though the ship is tossed in the midst of the sea, and we wish we had Christ to still the tempest and guide the vessel in the storm, it is better that we have not, for the storm gives us courage. When Christ came, He rebuked the disciples and said, "Why are ye fearful? Oh ye of little faith," for the storm had only made them fearful, and not faithful, as it should.

If they had continued to hold fast and to believe, it would have been better for them. He is not here, He is risen. He is not in the hold of the vessel, He is risen. When the storms of life beat about you, do you sometimes wish that Christ was here in physical form? No he is not here but you can see the place where he lay. There is some touch of Christ in every circumstance in life. You may stand there, and there are the evidences of his spirit round about you. He was in the ship, so that the ships have been sanctified and put under control. He was in the storm, we see the place where He lay, but He is not here now. He is not here stilling the tempest for you. But he is within you to-day for your comfort, and to give you that faith which the disciples ought to have had. Martha went unto unto Jesus when her brother Lazarus was dead and said, "If thou hadst been here my brother would not have died." But Christ had tarried away on purpose, Christ could have been there. They sent him word and said "He whom thou lovest, is sick" and yet Christ tarried for some length of time before He went to where Lazarus was. And then Martha came and took hold of him and said "Lord if thou hadst been here my brother had not died."

How often when the child has been sick, when the husband has been sick, when the wife has been sick, when the cheek was pale, and when the eyes were dim, and the lips fevered, and the pulse short; when the doctor has given little encouragement you have said "If I could have only taken them to Jesus in the days of his flesh, and let Jesus put his hand down on the fevered brow, and it would be clear, and the fever would be gone. If I could only have him say 'Take up thy bed and walk' but the angel says "He is not here, He is risen." And so our sick ones die of the fever, for he is not here, He is risen. Yet there are some in our day who say if we will only get down by the side of our sick, and pray and just believe that Christ cures them; that they will be cured, and we wont want any medicine, we wont want any salves or liniments, we will just believe and it will be done. No. No. He is not here, He is risen. The angel says He is risen. Better for us that it is so, hard as it may be.

Hard as it may be to let your sick die it is better for you that it is so. It is all right. He is not here, He is risen. Is not he here in spirit? Oh yes. Just watch that sick one and see if he is not here in spirit. Just watch when the question is asked, "Are you afraid to die?" and there will come the answer, "No, I am not afraid to die. To live is Christ and to die is gain. I can trust."

It is better so. You would not have prayed for that sick one as you have, if you could have carried him across the street to Jesus. You would not have been so patient with that sick one if you could have carried him across the street to Jesus. Better that he should not be here. He is not here, He is risen and they weep at the grave. They wept at the grave of Lazarus and Jesus came to the grave and said "Roll away the stone" and they rolled away the stone, and then He said "Take off the winding sheet" and they took off the shroud, and then he said, "Lazarus come forth," and he came forth from the grave.

You have gone out to the graveyard with that slow and solemn procession, when it seemed as though you would never want to go back again, as though you could not bear to go into the house again and find that one missing, and you wait at the grave till somebody came and put an arm around you gently and said, "Come, it is all over, come away home," and you said, "Just in a minute," and you tarried by the grave.

Oh if Christ had been there, Oh before that man put that first shovelfull of dirt down on the coffin, if you could have said to Jesus, "We will take off the lid of the coffin, and thou shalt say, "Come forth." But the angel says, "He is risen, He is not here." It is better so, He is not here. Oh yes he is here in spirit, I know all that. We could never have borne it if He had not been.

The eventual hour came but Jane did not: She had gone west with the wedding finery and Mrs. Clapper's brand new hat, borrowed for the occasion, James has no room in his heart for Seams but he wants the stolen goods.

The foremost medicine of the day, Burdock Blood Bitters, is a purely vegetable compound possessing perfect regulating powers over all the organs of the system and controlling their secretions. It so purifies the blood that it cures all blood humors and diseases from a common pimple to the worst scrofulous sore, and this combined with its unrivalled regulating, cleansing and purifying influence on the secretions of the liver, kidneys, bowels and skin, render it unequalled as a cure for all diseases of the skin. From one to two bottles will cure boils, pimples, blotches, nettle rash, scurf, tetter and all the simple forms of skin diseases. From two to four bottles will cure salt rheum or eczema, shingles, erysipelas, ulcers, abscesses, running sores, and all skin eruptions. It is noticeable that sufferers from skin diseases are nearly always aggravated by intolerable itching, but this quickly subsides on the removal of the disease by B. B. Healing cut to give yet prevalent diseases such as scrofulous swellings, humors and scrofula, we have undoubted proof that from three to six bottles used internally and by outward application (diluted if the skin is broken) to the affected part will effect a cure. The great mission of B. B. is to regulate the liver, kidneys, bowels, and blood, to correct acidity and wrong action of the stomach and to open the sluice-ways of the system to carry off all clogged and impure secretions, allowing nature thus to aid recovery and remove what we call bad blood, liver complaint, biliousness, dyspepsia, sick headache, dropsy, rheumatism, and every species of disease arising from disorder of the liver, kidneys, bowels, stomach and blood. We guarantee a cure in all the above named diseases, any person be dissatisfied after using the first bottle we will refund the money on application personally or by letter. We will also be glad to send testimonials and information proving the effects of B. B. in the above named diseases. On application to T. MILBURN & Co., Toronto Ont.

Heroes of Unknown Seas and Savage Lands.

(From the Daily Ontario, Belleville, Ont.)

Any book portraying startling adventures and heroic deeds and strange sights will always be warmly welcomed. The king of such books is without doubt "Heroes of Unknown Seas and Savage Lands," published by the World Publishing Co., Guelph Ont. The book is written by J. W. Buel, one of the most enchanting writers of the day, and who is peculiarly qualified for such a task as this assisted by John Clark Redpath, the greatest of American historians. It relates the romantic adventures of all the great explorers and restless rovers of the sea. It tells the startling story of the accidental discovery of America by the sea kings of the north. It gives the story of the buccanniers of the southern seas, the relentless and sanguinary pirates of the Spanish main, the romantic and bloody deeds of the conquerors of Peru and Mexico, the marvellous voyage of the Portuguese to the southern coasts of Africa and the golden shores of far off Cathay, and many other marvellous deeds of ancient discovery and heroic achievement. Here are described the real and fabled monsters of the deep, the heroism of adventures, the contact with savages on remote shores. Here are the records of Marco Polo's travels through India and China of De Gama's voyages, of the discoveries and death of Magellan. It is a record of the authors long and patient researches into fields which for centuries have been deserted, and its chief value lies in the invariable accuracy and authenticity of every statement it contains, making it a perfect mine of new, accurate and interesting information. The book is splendidly illustrated with three hundred fine cuts, four double page magnificent colored plates and handsomely bound. Altogether, it is a work of exceptional interest and merit and will undoubtedly have, as it well deserves, an immense sale. Agents wanted. Apply to the World Publishing Co., Guelph, Ontario.

He Fell Among Thieves

CHAPTER XII.
 Mr. Hogan, M.D., was getting the loveliest practice in gunshot wounds, and was in a state of supreme contentment over half-a-dozen Cossacks, when a Turkish regular plucked him by the sleeve and pointed to the open doorway of a hut in the village street.
 "Wan thing at a toime, and that done well, is a very good rule as many can tell," quoted Mr. Hogan, serenely; but the swarthy little man insisted, and the medico rose from his knees and followed. "Begad!" he broke out, "they're English, the pair of 'em. Blackbeard's business is over, and it's a pity, for he's a foine looking-looking fellow. There's life in the other chap, and whilst there's life there's hope they say. Let's have a look at him. Why, you're only a boy, me child! Poor lad! What brings ye out at this kind o' foolery?"
 He busied himself with skillful hands about the wound.
 "Tis ugly, but it might have been uglier. An inch makes all the difference. An inch and a half lower down and somebody would have gone into mourning. Ye'll do for a while now. I'll get back to my Cossacks. There's nothing to be done for Blackbeard, poor chap."
 He held Morton's hand in his own for a second and then dropped it and turned away, saddened whilst he might have counted three, and then brisk and alert again.
 The daylight grew broader, and a slanting ray of sunshine fell upon the feet both of the quick and the dead as they lay side by side. It climbed higher, touched the knees, the waist, and at last shone full into the wounded man's eyes. He woke from

Some dim memory of the exchange of garments floated into Harry's mind, and he guessed that his identity was confused with that of his dead companion. He could explain nothing now, and for the moment the error did not matter.
 Next day he was a little stronger, but not strong enough to talk above a whisper, and even then a mere word or two cost him so much effort that the doctor waved a hand for silence, and stole away on tiptoe. He heard himself spoken of as Morton, and was constantly addressed by that name. Once, in his hearing, the two doctors talked of poor young Wynne, and the tragic ending of his trivial scrape. His mind began to work more clearly, and he understood that the mere change of garments had for the moment cost him his identity. Then he began to think further, and to ask himself if it were worth while to disturb that arrangement. Here was an end of Harry Wynne, his troubles and disgraces. There was no more hope for him, no going back again no chance of offering an unspotted name to Inthia. He made no definite resolution. He could not as yet have denied the general supposition, even if he would; and as the hours went by and in his waking moments he revolved things in his mind, he grew more and more certain that he did not desire to do so.
 He heard, while he was in this state of doubt, that the news of the death of "poor young Wynne" as everybody called him, had been wired home by the special correspondent of a great London daily, and he began to ask himself whether he could anyhow have found a more fortunate ending to his troubles. As for Inthia, she was never out of his thoughts, but she was utterly beyond his reach. She would grieve, but she would grow reconciled in time. She would marry Humphrey Frost, and be wealthy and distinguished and in time happy. It was hard to think it, but the conviction forced itself more and more upon his mind. The chance of self-effacement thus thrust upon him was not lightly to be thrown away. Even honor seemed to call him to it. What right had he to hold Inthia to a fruitless bargain, to block up her way of life with his own miseries and misfortunes.
 In the first day of real convalescence the problem solved itself. He allowed himself to be addressed as Morton, and answered consciously to the name. There was no going back from it now. Harry Wynne was dead and done with, and buried in the Balkan wilds; but there was a living, eager-hearted and honorable youngster left behind him who had accepted the alias and personality of one of the most brilliant criminals in Europe.

WONDER IN WELLAND!
 A Representative Farmer Speaks.

MR. C. C. HAUN.
 The following remarkable facts are fully certified to as being undeniably correct in every particular. Mr. Haun is well known in the vicinity, having resided here over fifty years, and is highly respected as a man of the strictest honor, whose word is as good as his bond.
 As will be seen from his letter, four physicians had attended him, and it was only after he had given up hope of cure that he decided to try Burdock Blood Bitters on the recommendation of a neighbor who had been cured of a similar disease by its use. Mr. Haun writes as follows:
 DEAR SIR,—I think I have been one of the worst sufferers you have yet heard of, having been six years in the hands of four of our best doctors without obtaining permanent relief, but continually growing worse, until almost beyond hope of recovery. I tried your Bitters and got relief in a few days. Every organ of my body was deranged, the liver enlarged, hardened and torpid, the heart and digestive organs seriously deranged, a large abscess in my back, followed by paralysis of the right leg, in fact the lower half of my body was entirely useless. After using Burdock Blood Bitters for a few days the abscess burst, discharging fully five quarts of pus in two hours. I felt as if I had received a shock from a powerful battery. My recovery after this was steady and the cure permanent, seeing that for the four years since I have had as good health as ever I had. I still take an occasional bottle, not that I need it but because I wish to keep my system in perfect working order. I can think of no more remarkable case than what I have myself passed through, and no words can express my thankfulness for such perfect recovery.
 C. C. HAUN,
 Welland P.O.
 In this connection the following letter from T. Cumines, Esq., a leading druggist of Welland, Ont., speaks for itself:
 MESSRS. T. MILBURN & CO., Toronto.
 GENTLEMEN,—I have been personally acquainted with Mr. C. C. Haun for the last 20 years, and have always found him a very reliable man. You may place the utmost confidence in anything he says with regard to your medicine. He has on many occasions within the last four years told me that it was marvellous the way the Burdock Blood Bitters had cured him, and that he now felt as able to do a day's work as he ever felt in his life. Although quite well he still takes some B. B. occasionally, as he says, to keep him in perfect health.
 Yours truly,
 THOMAS CUMINES,
 Welland, Ont.
 The steadily increasing sale of B. B., the length of time it has been before the people, and the fact that it cures to stay cured, attest the sterling merit of this monarch of medicines, the people's favorite blood purifier, tonic and regulator.

he wounded man's eyes. He woke from his swoon with a groan, and turning saw Morton lying close beside him, and knew it a glance that he was dead. His wide-open eyes were fixed and glassy, and he stared as if he saw some dreadful thing.

Harry lay regarding him for a full minute. He himself was conscious of no great pain, but the dead man's face was like a prophecy to him.

"It's all over," he said to himself. "This is the end of it all."

A new faintness crept over him, and he took it for the coming of death. He had carried Luthia's letter in his inner pocket ever since he had received it. His thoughts turned to it and to her. He groped for it feebly for a last farewell in his heart. He would die with Luthia's letter in his hand, if he died in the act of getting it. In his feverish struggles he discovered that his left arm and his breast were bandaged. He wondered at this for a moment, but gave it no further thought. Trying to force his uninjured right hand beneath the bandage, he discovered that the jacket he wore was not his own, and a single glance at the dead man beside him told him that in the hurry and the darkness each had seized the other's garment. Morton lay on his right, and he could stretch a hand across his body. He struggled with a vigour which would have shown an onlooker how far away from death he really was, but he had no thought in his own mind except of a final farewell. He succeeded in seizing the letter, which lay alone, and drawing it from its hiding place he tried to raise it to his lips. His movements had disarranged the bandage and brought on a new flow of blood. He sank dizzily back into unconsciousness, and the letter dropped from his hand.

Later on, he had a dreamlike knowledge of voices, motion, and the open air, but this faded, and for a week he knew nothing of the world. The first thing he woke to was a blue sky, with fanciful figures on it, which dazzled and darkened into singular colors, but always kept the same pattern. He was dimly interested in this phenomenon. He had never seen a sky like that before and was feebly tempted to laugh at it. In the very fact of that humorous perception he fell asleep. When he woke to consciousness again somebody was feeding him. There was a yellow glow of lamplight in the room. He knew it for lamplight though he could not see its source; but the same absurd blue sky with arabesque figures on it of various colors still winked at him, and dazzled out of darkness into light with a regular pulsation.

He was sleepily bent once more on laughter when his eyes cleared. The blue sky became a blue distempered wall, and the strange arabesque of dark and light resolved itself into a vulgar Bulgarian mural decoration.

"He'll dew, Hogan!" said a voice. The valiant children of Erin were everywhere. "Why wouldn't he?" another voice responded. "He's as lean as a rat, but he's forty inches round the chest, and as hard as a nail from top to toe. He's a noble constitution, and he's taken it as if it was mother's milk. Poor Wynne was nearly as fine a fellow. 'Twas a sad end for the poor lad."

The patient listened in a vague wonder. He seemed to know nothing, and to care for nothing, and yet it was strange that they should speak of him as dead. The spoon came with a slow regularity to his lips, and trickled warm beef-tea between them. Why should they feed him if he were dead? He had a feeble desire to laugh again at this ridiculous query.

"Me gad! Hogan," said the first voice, "if you and me had run away from our debts we'd hardly have run out here."

"It's excellent practice," returned the other, solemnly, "but ye can't help thinking sometimes. There's not a spot o' whiskey within five hundred moiles."

Then the patient went to sleep, having given no sign of being awake beyond his absorption of the nourishment offered him. He knew nothing of the lapse of time, and it seemed natural and in the ordinary course of things that the same voices should sound in his ear again. He opened his eyes, and saw a bearded man in a fez, bending over him. He had never before beheld him, but he associated him with the floating flavor of rum and tobacco which had touched the atmosphere of every conscious moment since he had received his wound.

"Come, young gentleman," said the bearded man; "you're beginning to pick up again. That was a glance of intelligence, Dick. What's he saying?"

Hogan leaned over. The pale lips shaped a word.

"Morton! Morton. That's all right, me boy. We know who y'are. The papers are all right. They'll be taken proper care of, and you'll get them when the time comes. Ye'll just take this,"—proffering a glass to his lips—"and get to sleep again."

You missed the finest display of general dry goods, millinery, carpets, curtains, and general house furnishings, ever seen between Toronto and Montreal (and only the largest firms in these cities could equal it.) A steady stream of humanity from eight o'clock in the morning until ten o'clock at night; most of them CAME TO SEE and STOPPED TO PURCHASE. Our milliners report that never before have so many orders been taken during an opening. The town turned out "en masse," and a very large number of the best people in the surrounding country, so that literally thousands of people saw what they could in their limited time, of the magnitude and beauty of the array of new spring goods at Cheapside. We regret that want of space and time prevented our showing a large quantity of handsome things in dress goods, silks, carpets, &c. Of Carpets and General House Furnishings, however, we must say a word. We are proud of this department, as it has been brought to a state of great proficiency. We are showing in great profusion, Wilton, Brussels, Tapestry, Wool and Union Carpets—direct European Imports, all in handsome patterns. When you examine the quality the low prices will be apparent to you. The same words will apply to the assortment of Art Muslins, Cretonnes, Raw Silks, and Chenille Curtain Materials, and our grand Stock of Lace Curtains. You can easily save one-third of the price buying your Lace Curtains from us. We also show large Stocks of nicely-mounted Window Blinds, Curtain Poles, Chains, &c.

Our immense showing of Dress Goods and Trimmings was a pleasing surprise, and many ladies lingered long around this spread to choose the piece they would have for their Spring Costume. The men were equally enthusiastic over the show of New Spring Suitings, Overcoatings, Pantings, Ties, Sox, Braces, Handkerchiefs, and the other Goods displayed in the Gents' Furnishings Department. On the Staple Counter the fine display of Linens, such as Butchers' Linen, Drawing Linen, Fancy Drapes, Scarfs, Carving Cloths, Tray Cloths, Napkins, D'Oyleys, Towels, Mats, and general Table Napery attracted general attention and the most favorable comment.

One thing must have impressed itself upon the minds of all who visited our stores last Saturday, and that was our state of preparedness to meet the demands of a tasteful, discriminating public for any class of Goods we deal in, and that no other store of their acquaintance can hope to compete with Cheap-

A LUTHERAN PASTOR CONVICTED OF LARCENY.

Doctors Satisfied Deeming is Sane—British Liberals Worried—A Fourfold Split Among the Anti-Farnellites Imminent—Gladstone Might Prevent Open Rupture By Outlining His Home Rule Scheme.

BERLIN, April 19.—The criminal court in Oldenburg has condemned the Lutheran pastor, Muller, to 14 years' hard labor for embezzlement, obtaining money by false pretences and forgery.

The trial has been one of the most notable in recent years. More than 50 witnesses were summoned to testify to their losses through Muller, and about 75 more were ready to testify, but were not called upon, as the case against the pastor was complete without them.

It was shown at the trial that Muller began swindling his parishioners as soon as he settled in a village near Oldenburg several years ago, and that he had continued the practice without intermission until fear of exposure induced him to flee. He told the peasants that he could invest their money for them at a large rate of interest in Berlin, and more than 100 of the petty land-owners and shopkeepers entrusted to him sums varying between 1000 and 1500 marks. He induced the parish to buy a lot next to the church for 30,000 marks on representation that the Roman Catholics were about to buy it. He collected the purchase twice, but paid only 10,000 to the seller, saying that the rest would be paid in instalments. As secretary of the church council in Oldenburg, the councillors testified he manufactured and incorporated in the records of the meetings resolutions authorizing him to collect large sums. He made the collections, but spent the money in wild living in Berlin, during his occasional visits to the city. Altogether he obtained about 350,000 marks. The constable who arrested him testified that Muller, after his flight and before his arrest, spent thousands on fast women, posing as a wealthy horse-breeder, and when caught was sitting in a smutty tavern, with but four marks left, discussing the enormity of his own crimes as related by the newspapers.

In pronouncing sentence the judge said that in his whole experience on the bench he had not seen another such abandoned scoundrel as the prisoner.

POSTPONED TILL NEXT TERM.

The Connolly Conspiracy Trial Put Off—All the Books Seized at Quebec.

OTTAWA, April 19.—The legal fight between Uncle Thomas and Nick Connolly on the one side and the Government on the other, which opened in the Assize Court yesterday before Judge MacMahon, ended in a draw, McGreevy and Connolly carrying their point for a postponement until next term, but only on the condition that all the books grabbed at Quebec, which are not the personal property of the Connollys or McGreevy, shall be restored to the Government and all the books of the firm placed in the custody of Sam Blake within three weeks on the understanding that Mr. Osler is to have access to them for preparing the civil suits.

Immediately after the judge's charge to the grand jury, which, by the way, contained no allusion to the conspiracy case, Mr. Blake asked for a postponement on the ground of Perley's illness. Affidavits by Nicholas Connolly and Dr. Cousens were read in which it was stated that Mr. Perley was improving in health but was not able to attend court, and the motion for postponement was made. Mr. Osler opposed it, but after some argument the motion was granted on conditions named above. This will admit of the civil suits being decided in the meantime, and these civil suits are understood to be the real reason why a postponement was asked, for, if Larkin, Connolly & Co. win them, as they confidently expect to, the criminal suits against McGreevy and Connolly will practically break down. If the Exchequer Court decides that Larkin, Connolly & Co. owe the Government nothing it will be hard to convince a jury that there was a conspiracy. On the other hand the defendants are taking big chances, for if the court decides against them in the civil suits and the Government gets judgment for half a million dollars Uncle Thomas and Nick may not think it worth their while to risk a trip to the penitentiary, but may join Bob McGreevy and Owen Murphy in New York.

The next case called was that of Arnoldi, and in this a postponement was also granted, this time at the request of the Government, on account of the absence of an important witness. This is Wilson, the Montreal man in whose name the admiral of the Joe made out the accounts for hire. Wilson has gone to England.

Talbot and Larose have not yet asked for a postponement, and it looks as if these little fish are the only ones who stand any chance of being caught in the meshes of the law this term.

A RUSH ENDS IN DEATH

FRIGHTFUL CATASTROPHE AT HAMPSTEAD HEATH.

Excursionists at a Railway Station at Hampstead Heath Becomes Wedged on a Staircase and Two Women and Six Children are Trampled to Death.

LONDON, April 19.—A terrible catastrophe took place at Hampstead Heath last evening by which two women and six children were killed, and 13 other persons were seriously injured. Hampstead, which is a favorite holiday resort about four miles from London, was visited by the thousands of excursionists yesterday, and as the day closed there was a great rush of people to catch the trains to return home.

In the rush somebody fell at the foot of a staircase of the railway station and in a moment the hundreds of persons above were thrown into a struggling mass.

The police at once closed the doors and set to work to extricate the dead and injured.

Four of the dead have been identified as Emily Hamilton, age 55; Annie Aylon, age 40; John Connor, age 9, and Thomas Longford, age 14. The other bodies are those of boys of from 10 to 15 years. Many were injured.

Murdered on A Bridal Bed.

PARIS, April 19.—On a farm on the banks of the Seine, ten miles east of Rouen, lived Sieur Daplat and his pretty daughter. Sought by many suitors, her affection seemed to have been bestowed chiefly on Robert Dubodat, a Seine boatman, handsome but not good. Pere Daplat, however, interfered with the announcement that Jules Nicot, a worthy master boatman, had been accepted as Helene's suitor. Robert at once set about to prevent the marriage. On Wednesday, the evening of the wedding supper, all the waterside population had been invited. While the guests were becoming more and more intoxicated Nicot watched the bride and Dubodat and finally surprised them in the hallway just as his rival was stealing a kiss. Nicot proceeded to wreak vengeance effective and terrible. The bridal chamber opened on the courtyard and was easily entered from without.

Going there to prepare for retiring, Helene brought the guests panic-stricken to her side by giving vent to a terrible shriek and falling in a swoon. On the bed she had seen her old lover lying dead with three British Liberals Worried.

LONDON, April 19.—The Liberals are much disturbed in mind over the increasing discussions in the Irish party. A prominent Irish member said last night that the report of a fourfold split of the anti-Parnellites was untrue, but that trouble had been brewing in the ranks for a long time and a crisis seemed imminent.
There was, he added, no leader with sufficient influence to cement the party together. There were various cliques, of which that headed by Healy was the strongest, the one led by O'Brien and Dillon being next in importance. Many members were "on the fence" and would join whichever faction proved its ability to dominate.

Mr. Gladstone is being urged to give an outline of the Home Rule scheme that he intends to bring forward in case of his return to power. This, it is thought by many, would have the effect of keeping the Irish party together, as they would then have something tangible to concentrate their patriotism upon. Whether or not Mr. Gladstone will accede to the appeal for a manifesto in order to check the stampede among the Irish supporters of his party cannot as yet be conjectured.

T. P. O'Connor denies that there is any trouble in the ranks or any serious divisions, but he admits that differences of opinion are developing which it would be well to harmonize if possible. He looks to the elections to heal these minor dissensions. If Mr. Gladstone's Home Rule program is satisfactory to Ireland, he says all the Irish members will unite in assisting the Liberals to put it through. The Parnellites will not lag behind in this work.

If, on the other hand, the bill is not what the people of Ireland demand, the members will unite in causing its rejection.
Mr. O'Connor does not think Gladstone will publish his scheme before the elections, but these cannot be delayed much beyond July.

Parnes Threatens Austria's Empress.

LONDON, April 19.—The eccentricity and nervousness of the Empress Elizabeth of Austria has increased to such an extent that it is feared she is about to be stricken with softening of the brain, as have been her kinsmen at the Bavarian court. She is making her final preparations for her trip to China and Japan for the benefit of her health.

Wants a Gold Standard for India.

LONDON, April 19.—Henry Seymour King, Conservative member for the Central division of Kingston upon Hull, is going to raise the question of bi-metalism on a motion that, in view of the extreme danger to all interests in India arising through the depreciation of silver, prompt measures ought to be taken to establish a gold standard in that country.

To Build Cotton Mills in France.

LONDON, April 19.—The crisis in the cotton trade has led to the formation of an English syndicate to start cotton mills in the north of France. The inducement to this enterprise is partly to escape the new French tariff on yarns and partly to be able to employ cheaper female labor.

The Deceased Wife's Sister Bill.

LONDON, April 19.—The London County Council has given a new impetus to the Deceased Wife's Sister bill by an overwhelming vote in its favor. The House of Commons will again pass the bill, and again the Bishops are likely to appear in the House of Lords to vote for its rejection.

Fatal Duel Between Students.

at law in the University of Halle, fought a duel with rapiers yesterday. Jauer was fatally wounded and Forster gave himself up to the police.

Will Try to Force the Liberals' Hand.

LONDON, April 18.—Robert Grant Welster has an amendment ready declaring that a Dublin parliament, controlling judicial appointments and the police, would be ruinous to the welfare of Ireland and the Empire generally. The Liberal leaders wish to burk this debate as likely to involve premature declarations of their party's intentions, but the Parnellites and Tories mean to force the hand of the Opposition.

TEN MEN KILLED.

Frightful Explosion at a Glycerine Factory Near Newark, N.J.—The Superintendent and Many Employes Slain.

NEWARK, N.J., April 19.—Hector De-castro & Co.'s powder mills, near the landing station of Lake Hopakong, blew up at 3.30 this afternoon. Ten men were killed, among them Superintendent Smith, who was in charge of the buildings and works.

The report of the explosion was terrific.
Buildings in the vicinity rocked on their foundations.

The main building of the works was completely torn asunder. Huge pieces of timber were sent flying through the air and landed hundreds of feet distant from the wrecked building.

The nitro-glycerine mill was the first building to blow up. Within a few minutes afterwards six other buildings were rent by terrible explosions.

NEARLY $200,000.

What the Bait Act of '91 is said to Have Cost Newfoundland.

HALIFAX, N.S., April 19.—A St. John's, N.F., despatch says the Bait Act of last year cost the colony $200,000 more than in 1889, and that "as no fees were exacted from Americans, and the Canadians were prevented from coming to our shores for bait, we lost in license fees and light dues a sum of fully $20,000 which would have been contributed to the revenue of the colony.

"Besides the loss to the revenue there has been a loss to the people of more than $80,- 000 that they would have obtained from the sales of their bait and ice. At the lowest it is a total loss to the colony of from $120,000 to $200,000."

A Brantford Bigamist.

BRANTFORD, April 19.—Yesterday a man named John Read was arrested on a charge of bigamy. Read came here about a year and a half ago and began paying his respects to a young woman named Mary J.
Lefler of Waterford, who was living here at that time.

On May 20, 1890, the two were married by the Rev. James Awde and have since been living in the East Ward. Read has been working on the sewers. It seems that before he came here Read deserted a wife and six children, who have since been living in the County of Cardwell. The first wife arrived here yesterday and made enquiries for her husband, which resulted in his arrest.

He Is Larger Than Jumbo.

NEW YORK, April 19.—Rajah, a big elephant, who came from East Indian ports on the steamer City of Bangkok, reached this city this morning. He came from Rangoon, is about 40 years of age, and is said to measure 11 feet 11 1/2 inches in height, or two inches more than Barnum's famous Jumbo, who was imported from England and was killed in a railroad accident at St. Thomas, Ont.

Prince Michael Waives Examination.

DETROIT, April 19.—Prince Michael was

Giants With Ape-Like Heads.

LONDON, April 19.—An interesting discovery has just been made near Mentone, across the Italian frontier. Some workmen engaged in excavating the entrance of a large natural cave at Roche's Ronges came across three skeletons in a perfect state of preservation at a depth of 24 feet below the surface. They evidently belong to the flint period, and the largest is that of a man, which measures seven feet without the head, which has been removed, with that evidently belonging to a female which lay by its side.

The skulls are of a very animal type, almost resembling an ape, and the teeth in the smaller skull are quite perfect, while in both jaws there is a distinct indication of the growth of the wisdom teeth.

Prince Rudolph's Widow to Wed.

LONDON, April 19.—The Archduchess
Stephanie of Austria, widow of Crown
Prince Rudolph, is about to marry Duke Miguel of Braganza, brother of the Archduchess Maria Theresa. The Emperor, who mourns sincerely for the Crown Prince, is bitterly opposed to the match, but does not forbid it. Stephanie will lose by her marriage her appanage, but will retain her Belgian inheritance. The marriage is a love match, and will take place almost immediately after the official announcement, which is expected shortly.

A Cure for Hydrophobia.

LONDON, April 19.—An important experiment has recently been made by Professor Murri of Milan at the institute for the cure of hydrophobia. A man who had been bitten by a dog and had undergone the regulation Pasteur treatment was attacked with all the symptoms of hydrophobia, and paralysis had set in from the waist down.
His life was despaired of when Professor Murri made a series of subcutaneous injections of the virus in its fixed form, and little by little, all the serious symptoms disappeared and the man is now cured.

Abingdon Baird Has the Lily Again.

LONDON, April 19.—Mrs. Langtry has resumed her intimacy with Abingdon Baird of sporting notoriety, who, at her request,

Married on Their Future Graves.

CARROLLTON, Ga., April 17.—W. N. Green, a farmer living in Haralson County, selected a novel spot to be married yesterday.
Green, who was a widower, courted Mrs.
Sanford, a widow, and an agreement to marry was made between them. Mr. Green sent for Squire Newt Tillman to perform the ceremony. Mr. Green has a beautiful home, and near it is a grassy knoll, and on this elevated spot Mr. Green selected his family cemetery and also selected the exact spot where he and his future wife must be buried. Here Squire Tillman made Bill Green and Martha Sanford man and wife in the presence of half a dozen witnesses.

side in assortment, variety, quality and reasonableness of price, because our Goods are bought at the "Fountain Head." Our aim is like that of the "Patrons of Industry"—to avoid or eliminate the MIDDLE MAN and his profits as far as possible, and if all merchants were buying at first hand, in the best markets, at the lowest cash prices, and selling at the closest possible prices compatible with safety and well-established business principles, the "Patrons of Industry" would exist only for mutual improvement, for social intercourse, and for the advantages sure to accrue from the interchange of opinions, discussion of plans and adoption of methods for the better and more intelligent prosecution of this the greatest of all industries—Agriculture, upon the success of which hangs the success of all other industries in the universe. We have not joined any of the Lodges yet, and don't know their platform, but if it is anything like what we have stated they are filling a long-felt want, and our hearts are with them.

It is our custom about Opening Time to give a slight resume of the Styles and Fashions to rule for the coming season. Our Fashion Sheets, however, and the fact that every paper and periodical devotes a large space to this feature, will render it unnecessary this season. We are glad it does, for in a large stock and large stores like ours, with some fourteen departments, it is a Herculean task to attempt descriptions of styles, colorings, shapes, makes, and names agreeable to Dame Fashion.

We will content ourselves with a few remarks gathered from a hurried look at our millinery. The hat shapes are mostly medium in size and generally becoming—materials used in trimming are nets, flowers, ribbons and laces, with tips and plumes. Hat crowns are small, and as regards materials for trimming and styles of application it might be called, in racing parlance, a "go as you please" season, for hats are fashionable trimmed at the back, at the front, and in the middle of the crown, with a preference or leaning to the last two mentioned styles. The colorings are exquisite this season and the rich, we might say gorgeous results, produced by the combination of two or three shades, both by the ombre and shot, or changeable or iridescent effects, are very attractive. This is noticeable in the flowers as well as in the ribbons and silks. With regard to millinery and all other goods, we can only say we cannot convey any adequate idea by a pen and ink sketch and can only say in conclusion come and see. You will find courteous ladies and gentlemen to give you every information and consider it no trouble to show you anything you wish

SATISFIED DEEMING IS SANE.

He Says That Without a Lawyer He Can Prove His Innocence.

MELBOURNE, April 19.—The Medical Board that has examined the murderer Deeming and his sanity pronounces him mentally sound and perfectly responsible for all his actions. The statement that Deeming was mad when a boy and committed the murders at Rainhill and Windsor while suffering from instinctive insanity received no credence from the board.

Deeming maintains his indifference and continues to talk of what he will do when he goes back to England. He said to-day that without the help of a lawyer he could convince any jury if he tried that he was an innocent man. He ate heartily, saying that he does not intend to go into a decline because the authorities keep him in jail a few weeks.

A chaplain was admitted to him Friday. Deeming told him he did not care much for religion, as the woman who got him in trouble by her unfaithfulness (Miss Mather) was always reading her prayer book.

A London, Ont., Couple Divorced.

VICTORIA, B.C., April 19.—Justice Crease yesterday granted a judicial separation with costs) to Beatrice Maria Green from her husband, Rev. J. Wastie Green, on the ground of cruelty, violent and offensive language and habitual drunkenness.

In the case of Welsh v. Welsh and J. O'Flaherty as co-respondent Mr. Justice Crease granted a rule nisi to bring it up six months hence at the same hour and place. The petitioner, H. H. Welsh, was born in London, England, where he married the respondent in July, 1887. He came with his wife to London, Ontario, in January, 1890, and in May of the same year came to New Westminster, where he at present resides. While there he had information of his wife's improper relations with the co-respondent, O'Flaherty, and took proceedings with the view of obtaining a divorce on the grounds of adultery and desertion. A commission took evidence in London, Ont., where the act of her intimacy with O'Flaherty was clearly proved, as also that she now lived in Port Huron under the name of "Nellie Howard."

RESOLUTIONS OF CONDOLENCE FROM ALL QUARTERS.

The Funeral Arrangements Completed—The Dominion Government to be Represented by Sir John Thompson and Hon. Mackenzie Bowell—Special Trains to Sarnia.

TORONTO, April 19.—The funeral of the late Hon. Alexander Mackenzie will take place in the following order: After a short service at the residence, 83 St. Alban-street, at 12 o'clock to-morrow, the remains will be taken to Jarvis-street Baptist Church, where a public funeral service will be held at 1 o'clock. The casket, however, will not be opened at the church. After the service the cortege will proceed to the Union Station via Jarvis, Wilton-avenue, Yonge, King and York-streets.

The remains, accompanied by the family, will leave about 3.30 by G.T.R. special via Southern division to Sarnia. At Sarnia the body will remain at Mr. Charles Mackenzie's house till the following day (Thursday), when it will be removed to St. Andrew's Church, whence the funeral will proceed to the family burying plot in Lake View Cemetery at 2.30 p.m.

The Grand Trunk Company will issue return tickets at single fare from Toronto and all stations west to Sarnia upon all trains to-morrow and upon morning trains on Thursday good to return until Friday, the 22nd, for the convenience of citizens desirous of attending Mr. Mackenzie's funeral.

Messages of Condolence.

Among the telegrams of condolence received by Mrs. Mackenzie were the following: From the Governor-General, Ottawa: "I have received the following message from Lord Knutsford (Secretary of the Colonies): 'Please convey to Mr. Mackenzie's family expression of my deep regret at the loss which they and the Dominion of Canada have sustained.'"

From Hon. Wilfrid and Madame Laurier: "Accept from my wife and myself our heartfelt sympathies in your sad bereavement."

From Rev. Principal John, Winnipeg: "Tenderest sympathies from Mrs. Watt and Dr. King."

From Hon. Thomas Greenway, Premier of Manitoba: "On behalf of myself and colleagues in the Government of Manitoba I desire to express sincere sympathy with you in your loss and bereavement."

From Hon. A. G. Jones, Halifax, Minister of Militia in the Mackenzie Government: The report of your dear husband's death

What is

CASTORIA

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrups, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd, cures Diarrhoea and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."

Dr. G. C. Osceola,
Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

Dr. J. F. KINCHLO,
Conway, Ar.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."

H. A. ARCHER, M. D.,
111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

...yesterday and alighted upon his head on the pavement 30 feet below. When picked up blood was gushing from his nose and mouth, and a large gash in his forehead was also bleeding freely. He was taken to the hospital, where his wounds were pronounced fatal. Besides the injuries from the fall, one finger of his right hand was badly burned from contact with a live wire. He complained of a slight giddiness in his head before climbing the pole, and it may have been that in falling he caught at the wire which he had just opened to make a connection and received the shock which burned his hand.

Behring Sea.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—The President sent a message to the Senate Monday transmitting the most recent correspondence on the subject of seal fisheries. It relates almost exclusively to negotiations between this Government and the Government of Great Britain in regard to the measures for the protection of the sealing industry pending the settlement by arbitration of the question of the jurisdictional rights of the United States in Behring Sea. It includes a modus vivendi agreement substantially the same as that of last year with an additional clause providing for indemnity for losses sustained by each Government in consequence of agreement. It was finally referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations.

Mrs. Rammage's Body Found.

MOOSMIN, N.W.T., April 19.—The body of Mrs. Rammage, the woman who was lost in the snow storm of March, was found near the place near Cannington Manor where Mr. Evans reported to have left her. She will be buried to-day by the Salvation Army, of which she was a member.

Cut Her Throat.

QUEBEC, April 19.—Mrs. Leda Belland, aged 34 years, wife of Mr. Melville Dussault, wheelwright, Renaud-avenue, St. Sauveur, cut her throat this morning with a carving knife while temporarily insane. Her dead body was found by her husband lying on the floor of his workshop.

...languages in the Government of Manitoba I desire to express sincere sympathy with you in your sad bereavement."

From Hon. A. G. Jones, Halifax, Minister of Militia in the Mackenzie Government: The report of your dear husband's death, though not unexpected, caused a feeling of deep grief to all his friends in this province. To myself, who fully understood and valued the sterling simplicity and beauty of his character, it came with a sense of personal loss. That I so long enjoyed the confidence and friendship of such a good man will always be one of my pleasant recollections. Pray accept our warmest sympathy under your heavy affliction.

Sir John Thompson, as leader of the House, and Hon. Mackenzie Bowell, as one of the senior privy councillors, will represent the Government at the funeral.

An Amateur Athletic Proposition Which May Carry.

DETROIT, April 19.—Secretary Wilkins of the central division of the Amateur Athletic Union has sent letters to the other representatives of the division suggesting that a meeting of the directors be held at Detroit April 27 to adopt some measures which it is desirous to place before the meeting of the union at New York on the 30th inst. The most important of these measures, and in fact the only one of general interest, is a proposition to admit Canada to the athletic union. Secretary Wilkins is ardently in favor of bringing Canada into the union. If the central division recommends its admission the delegates can go before the New York meeting with fair prospects of getting the proposition adopted. The adoption of the proposition would undoubtedly make Ontario a section of the central division and bring Toronto amateurs into the same field with the amateur clubs of Detroit. The proposition has been discussed for some time and no opposition has been discovered to it so far.

Among other business to come before the New York meeting will be a measure to increase the number of representatives from each division to three.

Western Church.

The pastor will preach at both services next Sabbath. Morning subject, "Christian Influence"—Evening subject, "One of the men I have met." The young ladies of the Western church intend giving a Japanese Tea in the school-room on Thursday evening next, April 28th. The ladies will be dressed in Japanese costume, and a time of great interest and entertainment is looked forward to. The programme, after refreshments, will be given entirely by the young ladies. Admission, as usual, only 10 cents.

In Training.

There are a good many in active training for aquatic sports who will do well to read the opinion of Mr. William Beach, a champion oarsman of Australia, who says: "I have found St. Jacobs Oil of greatest service in training. For stiffness, cramps muscular pains and soreness, it is valuable. I always keep a bottle with me. It cures rheumatism." This is standard authority for athletes.

Great Games.

The great American game, Baseball, in the States, and the great English game, Cricket, in the Dominion, are in full career and it is apropos to consider what a celebrated pitcher says: Mr. Louis Rush, 49 Peeston St. Detroit, Mich., U. S. A., writes: "In pitching ball I sprained my arm; two applications of St. Jacobs Oil cured me." If you want to be ready for the next day, try it.

Was Taken Ill in the Pulpit.

Last Sunday evening while Rev. Mr. McEachern, pastor of the Presbyterian church was preparing to deliver his sermon he was taken suddenly ill, becoming faint and dizzy, and fell back, catching at something as he settled in his seat. Some of the congregation noticed his knees trembling before and saw how weak he had become. After sitting five minutes or so he rallied and was able to go on and finish the service. He is none the worse this week. Mr. McEachern came here about three months ago and has already made many warm friends, both among his own congregation and those outside, both by his ability and eloquence in the pulpit and his christian and gentlemanly conduct outside the church.

They are taken in about a dozen different poses showing varied changes of expression which art the little girl seems to be a master of and which makes her a great favorite with the show. Mr. Hullett furnishes the show with photos for the season.

Vestry Meeting at Sandhurst.
The annual vestry meeting of S. Paul's church, held Easter Monday resulted in the re-appointment of William Philpen, and Allan Neilson, the former clergyman's, and the latter people's churchwarden. The finances of the church were reported to be in a very satisfactory condition.

fin" McDonald, lately released from penitentiary after serving five years, was married at Cannifton to Miss Minnie Lott, of Plainfield. McDonald was arrested next day on a charge of bigamy, preferred by the girl's father. At the trial it was however proven that "Coffin's" first wife was dead and he was acquitted by justice of Peace McCread, at Plainfield. He has now caused a warrant to be issued through his lawyer for the arrest of twelve of his accusers for various offences including riot, assault, abducting plaintiff's wife, defamation of character etc. As it is a very serious offence to take a man's wife away from him, it will likely go hard with them. McDonald says that he was attacked by a crowd of men, his wife forcibly taken from the rig and he was chased out of the neighborhood on Wednesday night of last week, just before his arrest at Belleville.

Spryng Notes.

Mr. H. B. Sherwood, superintendent of the Bay of Quinte Ry., is having his residence on Dupdas street, west, re-shingled. The burned ruins of the old carriage factory and paint shop on the corner of Robert and Dundas streets, owned by Mrs. A. McNeil, is being cleared away.

Mr. Geo. E. Maybee is about to move from Centre street to the residence owned by Dr. Edwards, opposite Mrs. A. McNeil. Mr. W. S. Detlor has had waterworks put in his residence at present occupied by G. F. Ruttan. A boulevard along the entire block also makes an improvement.

Mr. G. F. Ruttan has rented the residence of Mr. John Wallace, next the Park, and will move in at once. Mr. Wallace will remove to the double house on Centre St. opposite the residence of Mr. W. T. Gibbard, which he has purchased from the Stevenson estate.

Mr. Adam Fullerton has secured Mr. Detlor's house and will start house-keeping as soon as Mr. Ruttan moves out.

The exterior of the store of A. W. Grange & Bro. has been improved by a coat of yellow paint.

The fence in front of the residence of A. D. McRossie has been torn down, making an improvement.

Mr. Dunbar has commenced the brick work on his new house on East street.

Damon S. Warner has sold his brick house on Bridge street, next to Dr. Ruttan's, to Mr. Elliott of Her Majesty's Customs.

The store of A. D. McRossie has also been re-painted.

Patrons of Industry.

The following is the preamble of the constitution of the patrons of Industry:—Being impressed with the fact that all parties engaged in commerce, manufactures, and all other enterprises of importance, are organized and are using their combined influence for the promotion of their own special interests, while the farmers and employees upon whose labor depend the prospects of the nation are almost entirely unorganized; We, the farmers and employees of the Province of Ontario, believing that Almighty God, as the source of all power and the ruler of nations, should be acknowledged in all constitutions of societies, do hereby with due reverence to Him, associate ourselves together under the following articles and the articles of incorporation of the Order of the Patrons of Industry, in the Province of Ontario, and the amendments made thereto, and do solemnly pledge ourselves, one to another, to labor together for the promotion of the interests of farmers and employees, and the good of the nation, of which we are a part. Article 1.—This organization shall be called The Patrons of Industry of North America, and shall be composed of a Grand Association, and County and Subordinate Associations, and shall be an organization of farmers and others, whose interests are identical with those of farmers, and its objects shall be to advance the moral, intellectual, social, political and financial condition of the said classes in this country, and to generally develop a higher character of that great industrial class that performs so important a part in providing for the subsistence and advancing the prosperity of all nations, and while fearless in its advocacy of the right shall be non-partizan and non-sectarian. The following are the associations organized to date;

Bazaar and High Tea.

The Junior Guild of S. Mary Magdalene's Church had a grand time in the town hall on Thursday evening last. A variety of useful articles and some taffy were disposed of by the ladies, who also gave a high tea with a very varied bill of fare. The patronage and attendance secured by the guild were very gratifying.

Fingers Smashed.

Mr. Walter Lane, of Napanee, who is employed in Scott's general store at Napanee Mills, on Saturday last met with the accident of getting his fingers caught in the machinery of the paper mill, crushing them badly. He fainted from fright and it was thought that he was seriously injured, but he soon recovered and is again at his work, his hand in a sling.

S. E. Allen & Co.—Fancy Goods.

We desire to call the attention of the trade to a few lines of goods which we propose discontinuing viz.—Ladies and Childrens white wear prints and cottons a few pieces of all wool serge. Ladies and Misses corsets, Yatisi, May, Bell & Crompton. Cochenine and stainless black hose. These goods will be sold at greatly reduced prices also a bargain table of useful articles. Ladies will please take advantage of sale. Dresses and Mantles made to order.

Police Court.

On Tuesday E. M. Walbridge appeared before the Police Magistrate on a charge of assaulting Eb. Bartles and was fined $2 and costs. Both men are in the employ of the B. of Q. railway.

The same day George Sanford, of this town, appeared before his Royal Highness for an assault on his wife, he having slapped her in the face. He was let off on suspended sentence to appear when called for, by giving bonds of $200 to keep the peace and be of good behavior for one year.

On Wednesday King Taylor and Charles Dryden, of Toronto, were tried for having got on a genuine tear on Tuesday night, painting the town red, driving horses too fast, etc. They were each fined $2 and costs.

A Magnificent Establishment.

A cursory glance through the two stores of Messrs. Lahey & McKenty revealed the fact that this firm carries a well-assorted stock of goods. Everything that can delight the housekeeper in the way of textile fabrics is kept in stock. The carpet room contains an entirely new stock of the latest patterns in Brussels and other looms, where all the latest fashionable colors may be found in a bewildering variety of pleasing patterns. The curtain department is replete with chenille and lace curtains, which are works of art, with a few choice rugs of especial quality and excellence. Of parasols we must say a word or two, for the excellent variety of handles and fine material in the large stock shown us, must please all purchasers. The clothing and gent's furnishings store contains a very large stock and is a prosperous branch of the firm's business.

Vestry Meeting of S. Mary Magdalene.

The annual vestry meeting of the church of S. Mary Magdalene, Napanee, was held in the Chapel Room of the church on Monday evening 18th April 1892, the rector Rev. A. Jarvis, presiding, and Mr O. L. Herring acting as secretary. The report of
